FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: Oct. 18, 2021

The Butte Strong Fund is accepting inquiries from organizations seeking funding for community development projects in the Camp Fire burn area.

Though the Butte Strong Fund remains focused on its top two priorities of housing and health and wellness, groups can make requests over the next month for funding to augment larger projects to help build or rebuild community landmarks and gathering places.

Examples of potential projects could include parks, trails, museums, community centers, historic landmarks, gathering spaces and projects that inspire a sense of place or are central to recovery.

The deadline to apply is Nov. 17. Late applications will not be considered.

A limited amount of funding will be available and the maximum grant will be $50,000. Partnerships are vital. The Butte Strong Fund will prioritize organizations with multiple sources of funding and those projects that have a strong chance of success.
